EXPERTISE

Laurine Cagnin is an assistant in the International Arbitration group at our Geneva office, having joined the firm in 2012. Her diverse and skilled role includes the management of arbitration and court proceedings. This involves following up files, drafting and formatting correspondence and legal documents, classifying and archiving mandates, and organising court deadlines and hearings, appointments and travel. Laurine is also responsible for managing telephone calls and post, welcoming clients, accounting and the preparation of fee notes. Before joining the firm, she completed a professional master's degree in Project Management, specialising in corporate events.
